We've Got Chicks!

Prince William 4-H staff and volunteers have had a successful test run of the 4-H Embryology project! We have 4 adorable chicks chirping and making us all aflutter with the excitement that comes with newborns. Our incubators have been distributed to schools and clubs and youth should be prepping the incubators for eggs, cleaning, checking humidity and warming them up. Eggs will be available February 27th from 3-6 pm and February 28th from 9 am - 12 pm at the Prince William 4-H office. We're looking forward to lots of photos tracking the progress of your project!

As always, our volunteers exceed our egg-spectations! A huge 4-H thank you goes out to Kristin and Katie Saul for sharing their wonderful knowledge, Sherryle Moore for her expertise and help with the brooder box, and Donna Garzione of Loch Lomond Elementary school and Ashely Scott of Kyle R. Wilson Elementary School who helped coordinate training at their locations. We could not offer this project without you!

Club Clips: Nokesville Community 4-H Club

Nokesville Community 4-H Club held their monthly business meeting last Sunday, at Buckhall Volunteer Fire Department, led by Katie Saul-president, Nessi Linares-secretary, and Ryan Nguyen-treasurer. We gathered early to put together gift bags of personal care products for the teens residing at SERVE as a community service initiative. We welcomed new members, had a fun game of Kerplunk, and had a special visit with Mr. and Mrs. Moore and a few of their beautiful hens and a rooster. They answered all our questions about chickens, as we are getting ready to begin an Embryology project. After the meeting we enjoyed a potluck dinner and a game of tag. We're looking forward to our March meeting and planning our gardens and activities at the county fair!
